

Citizen photo/Jeannette Boner

Belen Carrillo dances with The Hispanic Resource Center on Tuesday at the Teton Valley Community School. TVCS is teaching its students more about the Hispanic culture, especially at this festive time of year with Hispanic History Month, Dia de los Muertos, and Navidades (Christmas) celebrations. Throughout the next two weeks, students will be learning Dia de los Muertos poetry, be encouraged to bring in remembrances of family, friends and pets that have passed away for altars, reading books on the holiday, and making crafts to be displayed at the local celebrations at Driggs City Hall on November 1-2.

Citizen photo/Jeannette Boner

Carlos Gomez Rivera, 2, waits for another dance to start at the Teton Valley Community School on Tuesday. The Hispanic Resource Center performed for students that afternoon.